ASSESSMENTS.

The Commissioner of the Revenue is bow making his assessments, and thinks there will be no increase in personal property in Mecklenburg, if anything, a dency to reduce the number of cattle, sheep, and hogs, and these listed are placed at a low value. As to reaching bonds and other evidences of debt held by people for taxation, he can see no way to do it, unless they voluntarily list Them. Lands show for themselves, but personal property is page difficult.

Notwithstanding the bad weather and Notwithstanding the bad weather and terrible roads, the sales of tobacco have been very good here, and prices well maintained. It is estimated that about to per cent, of the tobacco crop tributary to this market has already been marketed. Planters sell their crops much sarlier now than formerly. The corn crop of last year was a very good one, and it continues to sell low. There is less demand for forage than usual, and but little northern hay came here this winter.

Improvements still continue here. Mr. Milliam S. Barnett is about completing the finest store-house of the town.

Mr. John Fair, proprietor of the City Hotel, has recently discovered on his farm near here a valuable magnesia-shalybeate water. The analysis showed a combination of ingredients possessing great medicinal value. He gives it to the people, and its effects in relieving the fflicted have been truly successful.
